fully stocked up!

HELLO SUNSHINE!

Say hello to our growing service management team running the front of the house! We've got a whole lot of new bottles stocked at the bar and in our shop for you to try (or take home) and celebrate the things that need celebrating. Ask any of our service members about our new Japanese Sake, Shochu, Whisky, Gin, and Rum selections.

There's something for everyone!

Special Note: You'll see that we now offer a wider selection of beverages by glass so that you can taste something ka-small before you go deep.

As usual, let us know if there's something new you wanna see from Japan and we'll squeeze it into the next container. (Things be shipping around March-April, most years).

WHATS BREWING?

It's been several years since we celebrated our first batch of sake brewed from East African rice, and we now have in the works a plan to brew a second larger batch for us to use in the kitchen, and if all goes well, on the taps behind the bar!

After years of exchanges with Brock Bennett, our Canadian globetrotting sake brewer friend, we have decided to launch a collaboration effort between him and Khalid at Banange Brewing Co. next door as we take the next steps towards this milestone. We've spoken briefly to the folks at Tanuki Shochu in South Africa, and are motivated to keep this continental experiment going as we swap out imported ingredients for Japanese-inspired but locally-made ones.

We've done a trial of blending in some organic pixie oranges from our friends at Pura Farms and some Mangada Tangerine in the 2023 season and come up with a light orange sake which we hope to share with you soon!

JAPANESE TEA

awa bancha

20

awa bancha is both a tea and a lactic acid beverage, characterized by its refreshing sour taste. awa bancha is our most unique Japanese tea on the menu, only produced in Kamikatsu-cho a mountain village in Tokushima Prefecture

green tea

tea made by the most common method of steaming and rubbing to produce rough tea is called "sencha".

roasted rice tea (genmai cha)

20

genmaicha is a tea made by roasting steamed rice soaked in water and adding equal parts of Bancha or Sencha tea. genmaicha has the aroma of roasted rice and the refreshing taste of bancha or sencha.

roasted green tea (hoji cha)

sencha, bancha, and stem tea are roasted (hōji) over high heat until golden brown to bring out their aroma. the roasting process causes the caffeine to sublimate, giving the tea its aromatic, clean, light flavor.

20

unlike other teas, matcha is not roasted, but rather the tea leaves are drunk as they are, and it is said to be highly effective for beauty

oolong tea

oolong tea is a semi-fermented tea in which fermentation is stopped halfway through, and is characterized by its deep taste and aroma. It is effective in reducing the absorption of fat and preventing tooth decay.

ZERO WASTE STORY TYING YUJO IZAKAYA TO KAMIKATSU

We'll probably need to put together some kind of book to share with you more of the exciting things we've been getting up to in Yujo Izakaya and the surrounding compound, but here's a little on our beta-waste management program which has been in progress for the better part of the last decade.

It started with an introduction to the folks at Good Glass about ten years ago where we learned about their upcycled glass bottle products and had our iconic brown sake bottle lights created somewhere around 2012. We built a relationship with them supplying glass products left over from our various departments, and have been working with other companies as well beyond cutting, and now having locally blown glass products supplied to us for use in the restaurant and for sale on the shelves!

We've recently been trying to start up projects to clean, sort and supply other products from our chain to various individuals in the city for plastic remanufacture and art. And we've been experimenting with a number of composting companies, and have decided, together with Laura from the extended family of Banange Brewing, to set something up ourselves now that we've had some time to tinker around.

The hope though is to put into practice the idea of "reducing" as deeply and thus bring far less Japanese ingredients in the retail sized glass format, but there's still just so much waste. These ideals should run hand in hand with our attempt to use East African produced seasonings, sake, sauces, and we've made a new connection with a like minded town of people to motivate us far into the future in the world of zero waste. And this brings us to the town of Kamikatsu and its traditional Awa Bancha tea which we've brought in to share with you and further open up your journey into sustainable living.

Nestled amongst the cedar forested mountains of Shikoku Island is a tiny village with a big reputation. Known for being the first village in Japan to make a declaration for Zero Waste, and listed as one of Japan's 100 Most Beautiful Villages, there is something undeniably special about this place.

"Oh, you think the darkness is your ally, you merely adopted the dark. I was born in it, molded by it. I didn't see the light until I was already a man; by then, it was nothing to me but blinding! The shadows betray you, because they belong to me."

This beauty, not for the faint of heart, packs a punch. Do not let the relatively low abv fool you - it is designed only for the most seasoned IPA drinker. The sort of person who, as others grow weary of the night, switches not to a lager - but a session IPA.

Belgian Witbier Draught (5.8%)

Bitterness: Low

500ml: 14.000 UGX / 330ml: 9.500 UGX

"Would I rather be feared or loved? Easy, both. I want people to be afraid of how much they love me."

This Ugandan take on Belgian Witbiers is designed to melt even the hardest of hearts. Light caramel and wheat feed the traditional Belgian abbey yeast, resulting in a silky texture with a hint of lemon. Orange zest and crushed coriander seeds top it off with the perfect complementary flavors to the bright wheat profile. Finally, in true Belgian fashion, this 5.8% ABV can leave you above the clouds.

-Summertime-

Lite Ale (4.5%)

Bitterness: Low

330ml(bottle): 9.500 UGX

"And I can't sail my yacht. He's taken everything I got. All I've got's this sunny afternoon."

An easy drinking and refreshing lite ale - perfect for thirst quenching on a sunny afternoon. The gentle hum of a light caramel base with a hint of white bread and lemon, rounded out by the balanced earthiness of cascade and centennial hops. You can drink this one all day long.

-Kale ale-

Amber Draught (5.0%)

Bitterness: Low

500ml: 14.000 UGX / 330ml: 9.500 UGX

"For instance, on the planet Earth, man had always assumed that he was more intelligent than dolphins because he had achieved so much — the wheel, New York, wars and so on — whilst all the dolphins had ever done was muck about in the water having a good time. But conversely, the dolphins had always believed that they were far more intelligent than man — for precisely the same reasons"

Light and dark caramel flavors paired with the sweetness of Munich malt give us an amber that simply wants to have a good time. Kale.
